Ancillary Services

Many of today's health systems are implementing new EHR or ERP systems as well as other software that make up the complete suite of offerings. One size does not fit all. The definition of the EHR or ERP can differ from organization to organization. Although we can do the heavy lifting for many of the EHR / ERP suites, we realize there is more to your environment than the big system. Addon's and third-party products make up the complete offering to the user community.

MMY defines ancillary services as a source from which additional revenue or increased data flow provides value. We have the proven ability to deliver world-class service in the Ancillary Service space, demonstrated on multiple occasions with many clients. As you craft your strategic objectives and determine those areas where additional systems will be required or need to be optimized in the new environment MMY can bring proven methodologies to the table. The MMY team brings experience in all phases of implementation; from analysis and design, implementation and post-implementation support.
